

FAQ

COME TO THE TABLE 2026

1. What is Come To The Table 2026?

Come To The Table 2026 is a decentralized national movement of worship, prayer, and communion. Instead of one central gathering, cities, campuses, and communities across the nation—and beyond—will host their own local expressions, united in vision and timing.

2. When is the event?

September 24–26, 2026

During these dates, hosts around the country will facilitate 50 hours of continuous worship and prayer, culminating in a shared moment of communion.

3. How is this connected to Communion America 2025?

Communion America 2025 was a historic national gathering on the National Mall in Washington, D.C., where over 40,000 people gathered for nonstop worship and prayer, concluding with a mile-long communion table.

Come To The Table 2026 builds on that moment by multiplying it—bringing the same expression into cities and communities everywhere.

4. What does a local gathering look like?

Each host gathering is simple and flexible but centered on:

- A public location
- Worship and prayer (continuous or scheduled)
- The public proclamation of Jesus
- A communion moment (often at the conclusion)
- Unity across churches, ministries, and generations

5. Who can host?

Anyone with a heart for Jesus and unity in the Body of Christ can host, including:

- Churches
- Campus ministries
- Young adult communities
- Prayer rooms

- Local leaders and families

The goal is participation, not perfection.

6. Will there be a central broadcast or livestream?

Yes. A central team will host from a primary location, providing a livestream/simulcast that other locations can join into—creating a sense of national unity while maintaining local expression.

7. Do I need to run 50 hours straight?

The vision is 50 hours of worship and prayer, but how that is structured can vary. Many hosts:

- Rotate teams
- Partner with multiple churches or ministries
- Share time slots across their community

We encourage every location to pray and offer the LORD the best they can! While every location may not go for 50 hours, any amount of time you commit joins the national sound being released by the church!

8. What if meeting in a public space is impossible?

As Communion America was a bold stand for Christ in the public space, so is Come To The Table! Due to the fact that public worship is a core value of Awaken the Dawn, we ask that every event carry the same heart. To host an official Come To The Table event, locations are required to have an element of their gathering in public. The Lord is raising up a worship movement that is out in the public. It is a BOLD love song to Jesus that is loud and on display for the world to see.

9. What if the park rules and regulations hinder me from fulfilling the full vision of Come To The Table because of park rules?

As soon as you get your permit look it over well. If you are unable to do the 50 hours there consider a different options such as hosting in a different location, hosting a portion of your event outside or move forward with what the local authorities have implemented.

9. Is there a cost to participate?

There is no required fee to host. Each location is responsible for its own logistics and expenses. Resources, guidance, and support will be provided to help you succeed.

10. What support will hosts receive?

Hosts will receive:

- Training materials and guides
- Worship and prayer frameworks
- Communication and promotional resources
- Connection to regional leaders and networks
- Ongoing encouragement and support

11. How can I get involved if I don't want to host?

You can:

- Join a local gathering
- Serve on a team (worship, prayer, logistics, outreach)
- Help mobilize your community
- Partner financially or through resources

12. What is the goal of this movement?

The goal is not just an event, but a movement of:

- Unity in the Body of Christ
- Public worship and prayer
- A return to Jesus-centered communion
- Discipleship and long-term transformation in cities and nations

13. How do I sign up to host or learn more?

You can express interest by connecting with a regional leader or filling out a host interest form (link to be provided).
